Thank You

To all those Comrades who took part in the recent elections we thank you. The amount of time and hard work needed is incredible and seems pretty thankless when the results don't go your way. Candidates and campaign workers often face a hostile public, organised anti-Fascist thugs and harassment from the (impartial) police. But have faith! We are not just fighting election campaigns, but battling for the very survival of our Race and Nation. We must win. We WILL Win! Thanks to you.

Football before Politics

Although a fervent England supporter, I must confess my pleasure at the scene at the recent Hungary v England match when Hungarian schoolchildren loudly booed the England team for "taking the knee" before the game. After the match, which England lost, manager Gareth Southgate condemned the booing and complained that some England supporters still booed their own team. Under Southgate the England team have become at best mediocre, and would do better concentrating on their footballing skills rather than extreme-left, racist political gestures!

Deportation Plans in Chaos

Government plans to deport convicted criminals back to their home countries and illegal migrants to Rwanda to have their asylum claims processed, have collapsed following a series of legal challenges.

A plane carrying 112 convicted criminals to be deported to their homes in Jamaica was stopped from taking off after a series of legal challenges. Eventually the plane left, carrying just seven deportees. The other 105, including convicted rapists and child abusers are now back on our streets. Free to offend again!

Four previous deportation flights carried a total of just 41 convicted offenders at a cost of £200,000 per flight.

Now plans to send "tens of thousands" of illegal migrants to Rwanda to have their asylum claims processed in a £120 million deal with the Rwandan government, were ruthlessly shattered when after a series of legal appeals the first asylum seekers deportation plane was cancelled.

The plan was hailed as a "brainwave" by the Tory faithful when announced by Home Secretary Priti (useless) Patel. It involved deporting the migrants that are invading our shores in small boats to Rwanda where their asylum claims would be processed. If granted asylum, they would remain in Rwanda and not come to Britain!

Prime Minister, Boris Johnson said there would be no "cap" on the numbers involved, and could amount to "tens of thousands" each year. But an unnamed Home Office trade union official told his members, "Rwanda relocation is a hoax and could only involve at most, two or three hundred migrants a year".

Pritti Patel signs the Rwandan "Hoax"

 Within a couple of days of the cancelation of the deportation flight to Rwanda, a group of around 350 Nigerian "invaders" set up their own camp at Loon Plage, near Dunkirk. British newspapers tracking the camp were told, "We have won. The courts are on the migrant's side"! Also in the camp were representatives of several British charities advising on legal challenges and free housing and healthcare in Britain.

 As most arrivals in small boats embark from beaches in Northern France and Belgium and land on the shores of Sussex and Kent, concern is being raised about a speed boat which landed approximately 12 men on the beach at Slapton Sands, Devon, and then sped off out to sea. The men quickly ran across the sands and were met by two people carrier vehicles, both with blacked out windows. These drove away from the area at speed and neither the men nor the vehicles have yet been found. A police spokesman confirmed concerns that the men might have been Islamic terrorists!

Britain First Leader Gets Death Threat Warning

In a sickening twist to British politics, the Safeguarding Unit from Greater Manchester Police have visited Britain First leader Paul Golding at his home to warn him that he was the target of "a credible death threat".

Paul invited the officers into his home where he was handed a "THREATS TO LIFE WARNING NOTICE": The officers went on to explain that the safeguarding team had received intelligence that there was a "serious and credible threat to Paul's life" and that they were there to warn him. They added that the intelligence had been assessed by a Detective Inspector who found the information to be "significant". Therefore, in the opinion of Greater Manchester Police (GMP) Paul is at risk of "serious harm".

THREATS TO LIFE WARNING NOTICE

Notice of Threat to Personal Safety

Paul Golding

I am in receipt of the following information, which suggests that your personal safety is now in danger.

I stress that I will not under any circumstances disclose to the basis of this information and whilst I cannot comment on the reliability or otherwise of the substance or the content of this information, I have no reason to disbelieve the information provided. I am not in receipt of any other information in relation to this matter nor do I have any direct involvement in this case.

Greater Manchester Police believe that you are at risk of serious harm.

Although Greater Manchester Police will take what steps it can to minimise the risk, the Police cannot protect you from this threat on a day-by-day, hour-by-hour basis.

I also stress that the passing of this information by me in no way authorises you to take any action which would place you in contravention of the law (e.g. carrying weapons for defence, assault on others, breaches of public order) and should you be found to be so committing you will be dealt with accordingly.

I therefore suggest that you take such remedial action as you see fit to increase your own safety measures e.g. house burglar alarms, change of daily routines, always walk with an associate, carry a mobile phone, install a domestic CCTV door guard system, increase house security measures e.g. locks and bolts. It may even be that you decide that it is more appropriate for you to leave the area for the foreseeable future. That is a matter for you to decide.

It is with this in mind that Greater Manchester Police advise you to immediately come off any social

The following day, acting on information from a friendly neighbour, Paul observed activists from the extreme anti-fascist group, Hope Not Hate leafleting his neighbours with what he describes as "a malicious smear leaflet". The police collected samples of the offensive publications with a view to prosecuting the extremists under the "Malicious Communications" Act.

As a follow up, Paul and a couple of his friends have now started videoing the anti-Fascists as they conduct their campaign of intimidation. The videos can be viewed on the Britain First website ... www.britainfirst.org

British Dems Plan Summer Recruitment Drive

The British Democrats are planning a summer recruitment drive with an initial 50,000 leaflet campaign. Also, party Chairman Dr James Lewthwaite, party National Nominating Officer and former Member of the European Parliament (MEP) Andrew Brons, and other NEC members will be addressing members and supporters in London on Sunday 12th of June. Former councillor Lawrence Rustem, who polled 14% in recent local elections, will also be speaking. A buffet will be available.

NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

Nationalists to Fight Each Other in the "Battle of Wakefield"

Three of Britain's premier nationalist parties will compete against each other in the forthcoming Wakefield by-election. The election comes following the jailing of the sitting Tory MP, Imran Ahmad Khan, for the sexual abuse of a 15 year-old boy.

As w3eget ready to go to print, Britain First has nominated a candied for the election, and the British Freedom Party leader, Jayda Fransen has announced that she will be standing as an Independent candidate. The British Freedom Party have been refused registration by the electoral commission and cannot officially stand candidates at elections. This is a blatantly biased politically decision against which the BFP have lodged an appeal. The Patriotic Alternative party are similarly banned from fielding official candidates and are yet to decide whether or not to field an Independent candidate.

Jayda is the leader of the BFP and is an extremely attractive and experienced candidate who recently stood in the Southend West by-election caused by the murder of David Amess MP.

Jayda Fransen:

Standing for the Britain First Party is the deputy-leader, Ashlea Simon. Ashlea comes straight from standing in the local elections where she finished second in her Salford ward, behind the Labour candidate, but beating the Tory, Liberal and Greens candidates. An extremely attractive young woman, Ashlea has a brilliant political mind and can engage easily with voters.

Britain First began campaigning early, with their three "battle busses" touring town, followed up with a leafleting campaign in a retail park which gave Ashlea her first chance of meeting local voters.

Ashlea Simon

The English Democrats are standing Theresa Hirst (pictured) as their candidate. Theresa is a seasoned campaigner standing in her local area, and should do well.

Theresa Hirst

The Wakefield seat was held by Labour for 87 years until 2019 when it was taken by the Conservative candidate, Imran Ahmad Khan, a homosexual child abuser.

Local Election Results May 2022

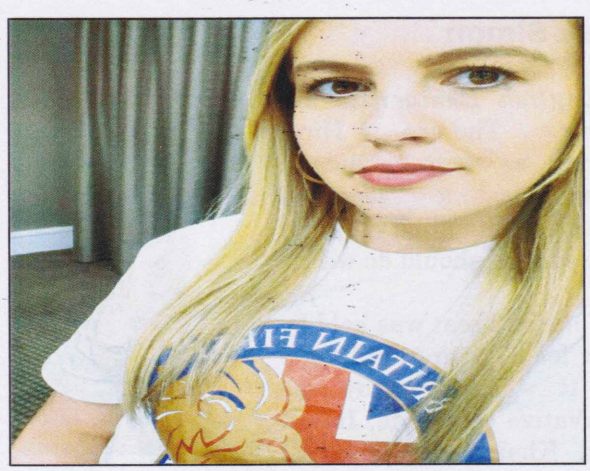
A Long Way to Go

The local elections held in May demonstrated the changing face of British nationalism and worryingly, how far we still have to go to attain political power in Britain.

There were some promising signs with nationalist candidates finishing 2nd in some wards but in too many cases our candidates finished bottom of the poll. The once mighty BNP, didn't field any candidates, whilst Patriotic Alternative who are often quoted as being "the largest nationalist party in Britain" still haven't managed to get registered with the Electoral Commission, and therefore fielded no candidates under the party name!

PATRIOTIC ALTERNATIVE

Britain First, who only recently managed to re-register with the Electoral Commission, probably got the best result of the day when their candidate for Walkden North, Salford, the extremely pretty and intelligent Ashlea Simon finished 2nd in a Labour stronghold, her 21.6% beating the Tory, Lib Dems and Green Party candidates. BF's two other candidates. Nick Scanlon in Greenwich, South London and Carl Burgess in the Rhondda could only manage 6th (of 7) and 8th (of 8) respectively.



Ashlea Simon finished 2nd

Of all of the traditional British nationalist parties, the For Britain Movement managed to field the most candidates (14). Party-leader Anne-Marie Walters, (pictured below) a former UKIP leadership candidate, is a seasoned campaigner and managed to poll 14.5% in Hartlepool

Anne-Marie Walters

This was by far the best performance of any For Britain candidates, with all but 3 of the others finishing bottom of the poll.

The English Democrats led by the veteran nationalist, Robin Tilbrook fielded five candidates. Four of the five managed to avoid the bottom spot.
Maxine Spencer in Barnsley finished 3rd in a hotly contested fight, polling 8.2% in the process. Party-leader Robin Tilbrook polled 8% in Chipping Ongar, pushing the Reform UK candidate into last.

Local Election Results May 2022

The British Democrats fielded just 4 candidates nationally. In Basildon, Essex Chris Bateman polled 4.6% and in nearby Bexley, Mike Jones polled a respectable 5.7%.
Party leader Dr Jim Lewthwaite finished third of six candidates in Bradford, polling 7.1% . This was a slight increase on the 6.2% he polled in the same ward last year. The best British Democrats result of the night went to Lawrence Rustem in Maidstone, Kent. Mr Rustem stood for For Britain in this ward last year and polled 2.6%. This year, in the same ward but as a BD candidate, he increased his vote to 13.7%.

Lawrence Rustem polled 13.7%

The National Front continued its rebuilding programme but could only field two candidates nationwide.
Tim Knowles polled 2.6% in Amber Valley, and Chris Jackson polled 3.1% in Calderdale. Both candidate finished bottom of the poll.

The British Freedom Party has become the latest patriotic party to be denied registration by the Electoral Commission. This lack of registration means that they cannot stand candidates for any elections, local or national. They do plan to appeal.

Electoral Commission Refused Registration

Prior to the election, Party-leader Jayda Fransen did announce that two party members were going to stand as independents', but we have no information on whether they did or not. Jayda has confirmed that she will be standing as an Independent candidate in the forthcoming Wakefield by-election.

Jayda Fransen

Although the local election results were pretty dire they have given many areas of Britain their first introduction to patriotic politics. It is now up to the parties to select and cultivate the wards that they feel will most likely to return a nationalist candidate in the future.
Electioneering is massively hard work but vital for the victories we will need for the future of our race and nation!

Look back at History

TRUTH

The words and thoughts of Antonio de Oliveira Salazar

By P.A

Antonio de Oliveira Salazar was a Portuguese statesman who served as their Prime Minister from 1932 to 1968. Whilst he never considered himself to be a Fascist or National Socialist (though condemned as such by his enemies), he was responsible for the "New State" ("Estado Nous") a Corporatist, Authoritarian dictatorship which transformed the Portuguese economy and ruled that Country until 1974.

Antonio de Oliveira Salazar

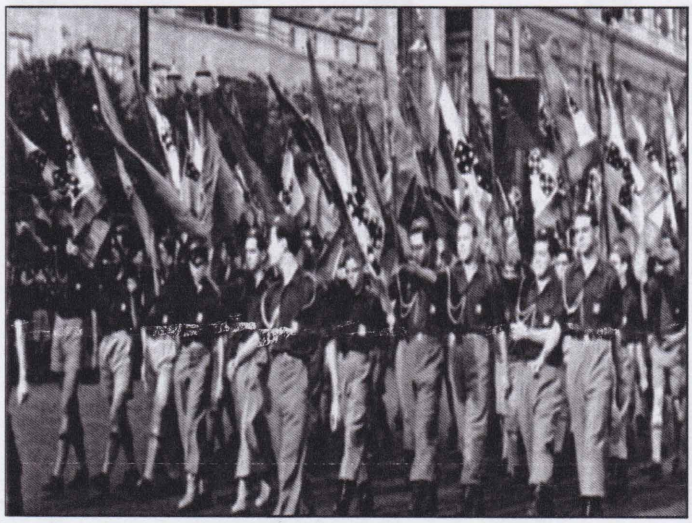
In 1966 he made the speech "Truth" transcribed below:

"I understand the doubts and hesitations. We live in a critical moment of the history of political thought and, more simply, in a critical moment of the world's history. Everything is in crises or subject of criticism: morality, religion, the freedom of Man, social organization, the degree of State intervention, economic regimes, the Nation itself and the advantages of its independence or its integration with the others to form big economic and political spaces. It is questioned in Europe the notion of the fatherland itself. Revolutions like that of the Soviets have continued, with regards to facts and philosophy, the revolutions that preceded it, the Reformation and the French Revolution, and, as with all great movements with their initial momentum, they have a tendency to spread and dominate the world, poisoning us with views and principles that they are far from putting into practice in their places of origin. The purest spirits are unsettled, disturbed, they don't know how to direct themselves and they repeat with anguish Pilate's question to Christ Himself: 'What is truth?'

This doubt with its hesitations and folly does not allow for efficient work; the human spirit needs to adhere to truth, it needs certitudes to direct itself and act. No state can exist without being grounded upon them or assume them defined and accepted. That's why, even before the current crisis was as widespread, precisely 30 years ago in this city of Braga, I felt a need to proclaim 'the great certitudes of the National Revolution'. Independently of what transcends the natural order, the dispassionate observation of facts, and the experiences of the peoples, through the ages, reveal to us some of these certitudes.
But we have another indicator to evaluate their justice; the fruits produced in the life and progress of the Nation, that is, if the principles that the same certitudes provide we could create among ourselves peace, we could organise our social life and in it prosper.

Salazar: Words and Thoughts

Because our movement seems to be too slow sometimes, many disturb themselves with the accusation of inertia; but one thing is inertia in action and another is the stability of political conceptions. Truth is by essence unchanging and the adherence of the spirit of truth, that is it's certitudes are essential to the progress of human societies."



1932 "The New State"

For me this brilliant speech is still as relevant today as when it was first delivered. Perhaps even more so with the rabble we now have controlling our Nation's destiny.

Where are the politicians of his stature today? If you're out there please come forward!

When the army overthrew the civilian government in 1926 Salazar was sympathetic to the new regime and was offered several positions within the new government.

In 1932, he was appointed Prime Minister by the President, General António Oscar de Fragoso Carmona. Salazar became the strong man of Portugal. He drafted a new constitution that reorganized Portugal's political system along authoritarian lines. Salazar's rule was strongly influenced by Catholic, papal, and nationalist thought. Salazar called his new order in Portugal the New State (Estado Novo).

He became firm friends with the new Spanish leader Franco, and in 1938 became one of the first European leaders to formally recognise the new Fascist government of Spain.

Salazar and Franco

During WW2 he kept Portugal neutral and led the country into NATO in 1949. Salazar served Portugal as Prime Minister for 36 years (1932-1968) and retired from politics in September 1968 following a stroke.

He died two years later on the 27th July 1970.

Riots over Plans to Burn Copies of the Koran

Twenty-six police officers and fourteen members of the public were injured when a protest march against plans by the Swedish nationalist group Stram Kurs to publicly burn a copy of the Muslim holy book, the Koran, turned into a riot.

Police reported that about 200 people had taken part in the violence and over 20 vehicles had been damaged or destroyed.

Protesters Burn Cars in Malmo

The violence began in the Stockholm suburb of Norrkoping where three people were injured after police fired warning shots at the rioters. Rioting also took place in Malmo.

Altogether police arrested 40 rioters over three days of protests.
Rasmus Paludan, leader of Stram Kurs stated that he wanted to burn a copy of the Koran as a protest against the gradual Islamisation of Sweden.

Unusually, the Swedish police Commissioner, Anders Thornberg explained the police were acting in the defence of free speech by preventing the rioters from disrupting the Koran burning.

Rasmus Paludan

.The Saudi Arabian ambassador lodged a formal complaint with the Swedish government describing the Koran burning as "provocation and incitement", but Saudi is not well known for it's record of human rights when it comes to protests.
Iran and Iraq both summonsed the Swedish ambassadors to lodge protests.

Le Pen Increases Vote in Presidential Elections

Despite finishing second in the recent French Presidential elections, Nationalist candidate Marine Le Pen substantially increased her vote from the 2017 Presidential election from 10,638,475 (33.9%) to 13,297,760 (41.5%) in this election. Almost 3 million extra voters!

Marine Le Pen

Unfortunately the extra support was not enough to overhaul the incumbent President Macron who polled just over 18 million votes (58%) to win a second term in office. Turnout was 58%.
Despite rumours that Mme Le Pen would be quitting politics if she didn't win the election she has affirmed. that she will be leading her party in the French Legislative elections which begin in mid June.

EU Court Confirms Ban on Ritual Slaughter in Belgium

The European Court of Justice (CJEU) has issued a ruling permitting the ritual slaughter of livestock in Belgium to be banned!

In 2017, Flanders and Wallonia, two of Belgium's three regions, banned all animal slaughter that didn't include pre-slaughter stunning. Both laws went into effect last year. Lawyers representing Belgium's Jewish and Muslim religious authorities had sought to appeal the decision and to have the ban overturned.

The removal of the ban was supported by the Advocate General Gerard Hogan on the grounds that human rights including that of religious liberty should outweigh laws on animal welfare. But the Court took the unusual step of disregarding the AG's recommendation and confirmed the ban.
This has led to strong criticisms from Jewish and Muslim groups, who claim that the court was "prioritising animal rights over the religious freedoms of European Jews and Muslims."

A spokesman for a Flemish animal rights group told League Sentinel, "We welcome the ban. Jews and Muslims have a choice of how to worship. The animals have no choice on how to die".

Summer Solstice

A sacred day in the Pagan calendar of our North European ancestors

The Summer Solstice, or midsummer's day, is the longest day of the year, when the time between sunrise and sunset is at its maximum. After the Summer Solstice daylight time gradually reduces as winter creeps in. To our North European ancestor, this was a time of celebration, for long daylight hours meant longer time in the fields and forests, hunting and growing crops for winter. Depending on the shift in the calendar, the Summer Solstice occurs between June 20th and June 22nd. This year it is June 21st.

While it was still dark, our ancestors made their way to sacred sites, and gathered inside a ring of stones, ritually placed on directions from the wise men of the tribe. Once set, the stones would remain often for centuries. Many of these stone circles remain today, the best preserved being Stonehenge in Wiltshire.

As the first rays of the sun appeared through the sacred circle, a great cheer would rise from the crowd, and the wise ones or priests, would light a sacred bonfire.

The Sun appears above the sacred circle

The day would be spent feasting and dancing, with young men testing their courage in jumping through the flames from the bonfire and walking across hot ashes. The bonfire was a vital part of the celebration as it was believed to keep evil spirits away. For this was a really spiritual event, when "magic" herbs such as Calendula and St John's Wort, both with powerful healing powers, could be safely gathered by the wise women of the tribe, for the making of potions to heal the sick. Prayers were said, asking the Gods for a successful harvest and a mild winter. Good health for the family and good luck and prosperity for the tribe were also asked.

As with many Pagan festivals, the Christian church adopted the Summer Solstice as "St John's Day", the alleged birthday of Saint John the Baptist. But this was not widely accepted, and priests often complained that on midsummer's day "those who claim to be Christians prefer to spend the day celebrating at the bonfire rather than going to church".

Today, the solstice is still widely celebrated in Northern Europe. In Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, midsummer's day is a public holiday. In Sweden and Finland a public holiday is on a fixed date, June 24th. People flock to the countryside, light bonfires, hold feasts and perform traditional dances until sunset.

Maidens perform traditional dances

For Britons it is more awkward to celebrate the solstice. As it is not a public holiday, most people have to spend their day at work. But it is still possible to rise early to watch the arrival of the midsummer sun. In the evening a candle can substitute for the sacred bonfire and a walk outside to watch the setting sun is not beyond most folk. Remember to offer prayers for your family and kith and kin, and give thanks to the Gods for their gifts.

In this multi-faith society it is vital that you do not abandon your individual spiritual heritage.

Blessed Be!

The author is a member of an Essex-based Pagan group, and has studied and practiced various forms of Paganism for over 30 years.

Sex Abuse Britain

MPs Accused of Sex Abuse As Tory MP is Jailed

Over 50 British MPs are facing sexual misconduct allegations after they were reported to Parliament's independent complaints body. Around 70 complaints into the 50 plus alleged offenders have been lodged with the Independent Complaints and Grievance Scheme (ICGS) according a Parliamentary source. The allegations are said to include offences from sexual harassment to serious sexual assaults.

Although no names have yet been leaked, a national newspaper reported that "at least three of the accused were Cabinet Ministers and two were opposition Shadow Ministers".
Shortly after the news broke a government spokesman announced that any Ministers accused of offences would be suspended from their duties pending investigation.

The allegations surfaced just weeks after David Warburton, the Tory MP for Somerton and Frome, was suspended from the party pending an investigation by the parliamentary harassment watchdog after a string of allegations were made about his conduct. These included sexual assaults against two of his office staff and the use of illegal Class A drugs.
Mr Warburton denies all of the allegations.

Tory MP Jailed over Sex Attack on Young Boy

Imran Ahmed Khan, the former Tory MP for Wakefield West Yorkshire, has resigned his seat after being convicted by a jury at Southwark Crown Court in London of sexually assaulting a 15 year-old boy after getting him drunk on gin and tonic.

Resigned: Imran Ahmed Khan

Following his conviction, Khan was expelled from the Conservative party and initially vowed to represent the seat as an independent while appealing his conviction but decided he could not commit the time to do his doing his constituency and parliamentary work at the same time as preparing his appeal. The appeal failed and he was jailed for 18 months

The alleged offence took place in 2008, before Khan became an MP.

National Socialism and RACE

By Dr. A.J. Gregor

A serious look at the racial policies of the 3rd Reich explains how the vague ideas of Adolf Hitler in the early years of his political struggle developed in the 1930s into an exaggerated obsession with Nordicism. This occurred quite separately and with the disapproval of many of the National Socialist leaders. By the late1930s a far more rational view became official policy. The entire histories of these developments are explained by Dr Gregor. Over 100 footnotes are provided giving references and sources.
